League Admits Bulgaria Keeps Out Armenians

FOUR NEW NATIONS ARE VOTED INTO MEMBERSHIP

COSTA RICA, FINLAND, AND LUXEMBOURG PASS ASSEMBLY. FRENCH OPPOSED Viviani Withholds Declaration in Question of Bulgaria.

(By Associated Press.)
Geneva, Dec. 16.—Four new nations were made members of the league of nations by the assembly of the league here today. Costa Rica, Finland, and Luxembourg, France and Australia abstained from voting when the admission of Bulgaria was before the assembly for resolution.

France abstained from voting on the question of admitting Bulgaria. Rene Viviani, head of the French delegation, declaring it had no objection to Bulgaria as a member, but referred not to vote in view of the completeness of the information given in regard to Bulgaria's fitness.

Costa Rica Not Too Small.
The question of admitting Costa Rica was the next on the days agenda. Dr. Nansen, of Norway explained that the only doubt in his mind was whether Costa Rica was not too small a country, but in view of the membership of the league, he decided Costa Rica could not be excluded on that score.

Debate was expected when the resolution relative to the admission of Balkan and Caucasian states was to be considered. N. W. Rowell of Canada, gave notice that Canada as a Pacific power, was interested in the question of the league's relations with the Russian empire.

New Power on Sea.
Although the Baltic states had the full sympathy of Canada, he asserted the situation in Russia might change and the league might find itself faced by a new government claiming access to the sea, and thereby the entire responsibility of grave responsibility.

It was planned, if the assembly finished the election of new members soon, to take up the league budget and pass appropriations for the coming year which have been somewhat criticized. A committee of the chamber of commerce and industry of the United States, said that the league was not making any contribution to the world's peace.

Armenia Not Admitted.
The committee reported unfavorably on the admission of Armenia, Lithuania, Latvia, and Georgia. It failed to recommend the admission of Armenia because its territory was not being exercised by the government.

It was pointed out that Armenia was a signatory of the treaty of Sevres, the Turkish peace treaty and the question was raised whether the ratification of that treaty, which the assembly would not make her automatically a member of the league.

The assembly passed a resolution praising the efforts of the American people, expressing the hope that President Wilson's efforts would result in the saving of Armenia and the establishment of a stable government so that she might be admitted to the league in the not far distant future.

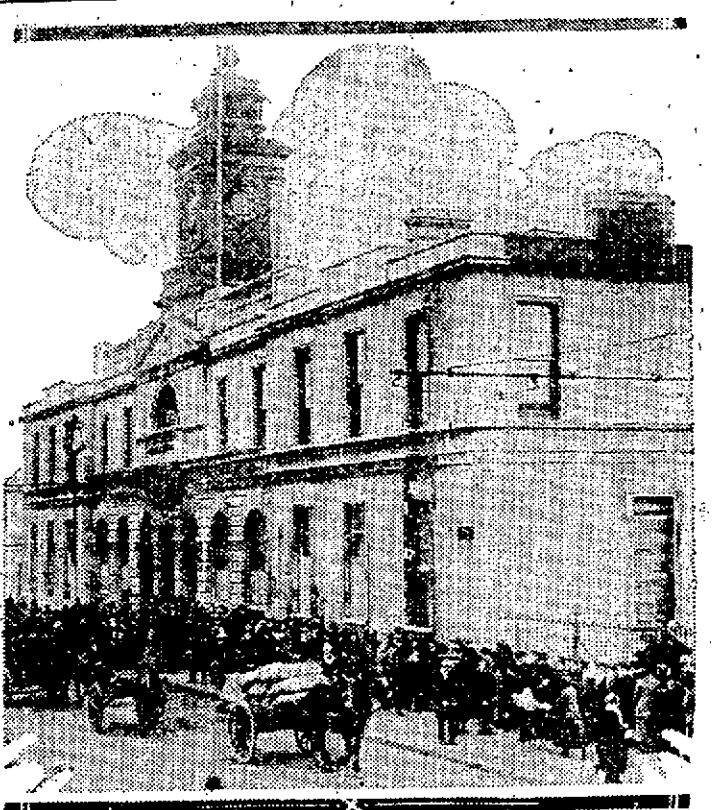

BRANNON HEAD OF COLLEGE PRESIDENTS; DALAND IN OFFICE

The fourth annual meeting of the association was presided over by Ellen C. Sablin, president of Milwaukee-Downer college. Addresses were given by Pres. W. L. Long, president of Wisconsin, and President Brannon, of Beloit.

NATIONAL EQUITY TO SUE TREASURER
(By Associated Press.)
Madison, Dec. 16.—The report of the finance committee of the National Union of the American Society of Equity in convention here, was adopted today, after extended discussion. Court action will be taken soon by the national society against Walter L. Long, former secretary and treasurer, P. J. Heitzfeld, chairman of the finance committee, said. He said that the report was not accepted by the convention, and that the report was not accepted by the convention, and that the report was not accepted by the convention.

National equity board members were authorized to contact a loan not to exceed $10,000 to meet financial obligations. The board was instructed to attempt reorganization of state unions in Wisconsin, Michigan, and North and South Dakota.

Cork City Hall Burned

The famous city hall at Cork, burned during the conflagration that did $7,000,000 worth of damage.

Sir Hamar Greenwood, home secretary to Ireland, has announced officially that if proof is found that British soldiers took part in the firing of the city of Cork recently as a reprisal the parties convicted will be court-martialed.

U. S. Ambassador Spurns Introduction to German

(By Associated Press.)
Paris, Dec. 16.—Hugh C. Wallace, the American ambassador, last night refused to meet Wilhelm Sauer, German ambassador, because the United States still is technically at a state of war with Germany.

The incident occurred at an official dinner to the diplomatic corps given by Raoul Peret, president of the chamber of deputies, and his wife. Ambassador Wallace before the dinner and said: "The German ambassador desires to be presented to you."

"Can't you forget it?" inquired Mr. Wallace, who knows Sauer. "He is standing just behind me," replied Fourqureux. "He is very persistent. I did not wish to embarrass you."

"Tell him," said Mr. Wallace, "that I refuse to meet him." The German ambassador was standing so near that he heard Mr. Wallace's reply, and Mr. Fourqureux repeated the response to him.

The incident spread rapidly among the guests, who included many of the most notable men in Paris. The German ambassador was surrounded by persons congratulating him.

ANTI-STRIKE BILL NEED $2,300 FOR SALVATION ARMY
PASSED BY SENATE
Measure Provides Interference With Commerce Is Felony.

Washington, Dec. 16.—The Poincaré anti-strike bill was passed today by the senate without debate or a record vote. The measure, which now goes to the house, provides that interferences with interstate commerce shall be a felony.

Stores Open Nights FOR LATE SHOPPERS
Stores of Janesville will remain open evenings until 9 o'clock, next week, starting Tuesday night, according to an announcement made at the office of the Retail Merchants' association today. This is for the accommodation of those people unable to do their Christmas shopping during the day and for out-of-town people. Although it has not been decided fully, it is expected that all stores will be closed on Friday, Christmas eve.

All drug stores will be open every evening until 9 o'clock, starting Monday and including Friday.

Liabilities and Assets?
Mrs. Housewife, did you ever stop to consider the many useful articles which you have stored away in the attic or basement? Such articles stored away, where they will soon be forgotten, are household liabilities which can easily be turned into assets through the use of Gazette classifieds.

Make a careful list of the articles you have stored away and figure what they would bring if sold. The total amount is a liability and will be such as long as the articles are kept in storage. However, if you are anxious to turn these liabilities into assets, call 77, either phone, and insert a small ad in the Gazette. There is a large market in this community for useful articles and you will be surprised at the large returns you will receive.

ARBUTUS BLOOMS IN DECEMBER, IS FIRST TIME KNOWN

(By Associated Press.)
Marquette, Wis., Dec. 16.—Gathering arbutus in December is something never before known in this region. Collins Chute, 15, years old boy, picked a bouquet of them in the woods near here yesterday. It is the first time on record that the spring time flower has bloomed in this month. They are usually picked in April.

JANESVILLE AHEAD IN STOCK JUDGING

Indications Point to Local Victory Over Three Other Schools.

Close judging by boys of the four teams from Walworth, Janesville, Milton and Port Johnson, high schools marked the contest here today which is being held to determine the team which will represent this section in the state meet at Madison in February.

Walworth high school was represented by a team composed of Arthur Berner, and Eugene W. Wilford, under the direction of J. W. Crow, teacher of agriculture.

H. E. Taff, teacher of agriculture at Port Johnson, entered a team composed of Robert Marshall, Ernest Hartwig and Glen Downing. Janesville was represented by a team composed of Elton Bingham and Morris Van Horn. It is under the direction of the teacher there, R. E. Kellogg.

Janesville's team is composed of Harold McCann, Stuart Paul and George Trowbridge, under the direction of Allen E. West of the high school.

See Draft Horses.
The teams gathered at the high school this morning and were taken in cars to the Arbutus farm, 10 miles from Janesville, where the judging was held.

The boys were given 30 minutes in which to judge the entries, marking them according to general appearance, head and neck, fore and hind quarters, body, type and dress.

Harold McCann, of the Janesville team, was the only one to judge the entries correctly. In placing these horses the following points were considered: general appearance, head and neck, fore and hind quarters, body and type, and quality. A team which was judged first runner-up was the team of Port Johnson.

The contest is judged by a system of points and no indication of the leading team can be made until it is finished this afternoon. The prevailing opinion among the judges and directors was that the Janesville team is in the lead.

The afternoon the boys went to the farm of John L. Fisher to judge the farm horses and the dairy horses. The contest is judged by a system of points and no indication of the leading team can be made until it is finished this afternoon.

FEDERAL GRAND JURY CALLED FOR FRIDAY
Milwaukee, Dec. 16.—The federal grand jury was again called into session by Judge Geisler on Friday, Dec. 17, at 11 a. m. The call caused a sensation in the federal building for the reason that the members of the jury, when they reported last Thursday, were ordered to meet Jan. 11.

While no explanation could be obtained, it was commonly believed that the unexpected move may have been the result of the action of the jury in sending to Wisconsin members in congress a resolution urging that the Volstead act be modified.

BRITISH EXAMINE U. S. CABLEGRAMS SAYS W. U. CHIEF

CARLTON TESTIFIES AS TO ACTION OF NAVAL INTELLIGENCE AUTHORITIES.

TAKES FIRM STAND Western Union Had Assurance That There Would Be No Censoring.

(By Associated Press.)
Washington, Dec. 16.—All American cable messages leaving Great Britain are now held up for examination by the British naval intelligence authorities, according to a statement made by W. W. Carlton, president of the Western Union Telegraph company, testified today when recalled before a special senate committee investigating the war American business messages sent over English cables had gone into possession of their English competitors.

Seek Light on Ireland.
The new British requirements have been imposed, Mr. Carlton said, for the purpose of throwing light upon "internal disturbances in Great Britain and I presume more particularly with reference to Ireland and home rule."

Carlton added that he was not sure whether in-bound cables from the United States also were being held for examination.

When the system was instituted, President Carlton testified, the Western Union company had "taken a firm stand," but was assured that the company would not be interfered with or censored.

Business Cables Thrown.
Captain F. K. Hill, who was a naval attaché of the United States to South American embassies, told the committee that the British had thrown out business messages sent over English cables had gone into possession of their English competitors.

CITY TO PROTEST PHONE INCREASES

Cunningham Expected to Appear for Public at Hearing Next Week.

Janesville will oppose the 50 to 100 percent increase in telephone rates proposed by the Wisconsin Telephone company in its petition to the railroad commission to approve of its purchase of the Rock County Telephone company's lines for $100,000.

This much was made clear today by city officials who find the public generally strongly opposed to the proposed increase. The city will appear before the commission at 2 p. m. next week.

Other city officials may possibly attend. Citizens who wish to enter a protest may do so at that time.

Announcement of the proposed rates has caused a general stir of protest throughout the city. The public, it is felt, will welcome anything officials can do to reduce the amount of increases.

Agreement to sell the Rock County Telephone company was purely brought about by the two companies and not by any action of the city, it was stated today by the city officials.

"Sometime ago," he explained, "the Rock County company asked for a rate increase of 50 percent. The city refused and the Wisconsin company was granted a consolidation of the two companies is possible by a purchase of our exchange by the Wisconsin company."

TALES OF WOE ARE HEARD BY JUDGE; 6 DIVORCES GRANTED
Tales of domestic woe, of desertion, of neglect to support and of cruelty, were heard by Judge George Grimm in circuit court this afternoon.

Charles Jones alleged her husband twice deserted her and treated her cruelly. Each time she mentioned the "other woman's" name, she alleged her husband slapped her face.

A divorce was granted Myrtle Wolin, age 30, from her husband, John Wolin, of Beloit. She alleged cruelty.

POOR PARENTS WALK FOR THREE WEEKS TO SEE DYING DAUGHTER

Shrewport, La., Dec. 16.—After walking several hundred miles overland from their home in the Ozarks of Arkansas, Thomas Alexander and wife, carrying an umbrella and shotgun, respectively, have arrived in Shrewport, La., after a journey of three weeks, sleeping under trees.

BOY MAY RETURN FOR CHRISTMAS

Showers Family Hopes That Youth of 13, Who Disappeared Here, Will Return.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Showers, Milton Junction, are praying that Santa Claus will bring them their son, Eli H. Showers, age 13 years, as a Christmas present. The grandmother of the boy, Mrs. Mildred Showers who is visiting in Janesville, also is wishing that the spirit of the holidays will cause the Milton Junction youth to return to his home.

The Showers youth disappeared in Janesville just before the opening of school last September. He was enroute to his home in the Junction from Baraboo but he tarried in Janesville, went to Beloit and then disappeared.

Was In Baraboo.
Some say he had not been very happy with his father. He had confided with relatives that he didn't want to be governed, so strictly. Wiser people told him to stifle the "wonderlust" and remember his mother.

This summer he went to Baraboo to work for people who had employed him while his father was absent. When his father and mother left that city to return to Milton Junction he remained in Baraboo. They wrote for him to Beloit, holding out the prospect of a job. The Baraboo friends took him to the train late in August, bought his tickets and bade him "God-bye." He would go as far as Janesville where it seems he debated long and hard whether he should remember the love of his mother, or obey his father's wish to go home. He went to Beloit and that is the last trace his relatives have of him.

Strong For Age.
While only 13 years of age the boy is declared to be robust, strong and has the appearance of being 20 years. He has been used to cutting wood, and has been used to cutting wood, and has been used to cutting wood.

Both the mother and father urge the boy to come home promising a merry Christmas spirit for him to see. "I would like to see him to see," said the father today, "it would be the Christmas present that would make his mother very good to him and forget his running away."

"I do hope Eli feels the home coming spirit of Christmas and comes to come," pleads the grandmother. And no one knows what the boy thinks about it.

Mr. Showers said today that his son may have run away to escape being sent to Waukesha to the reformatory for misdeeds committed this summer. While visiting in Baraboo, Mr. Showers said his son took some jewelry for which the father later paid. He also, according to his father, "stole some bills from the father."

Because of this the father threatened to send the boy to Waukesha.

"I have advertised in the Gazette, the Milwaukee and Chicago papers but have never heard a word from my son. Tell him that if he will only come home, all will be forgotten."

HEISE IS NAMED PRESIDENT OF E. F. U.
Members of the Equitable Fraternal Union elected officers for the year at the meeting held last evening. They are as follows: Herman A. Heise, president; Frank Bradford, vice-president; C. H. Buchholz, advisor; William L. Thorn, warden; Edward O. Smith, secretary; John Keller, treasurer; and a committee for three years: John J. Bick, president; Otto P. Buchholz, inner guard; J. L. Harper, outer guard; Dr. Edna Bickel and F. Farnsworth, physicians.

Short Time Loans.
We are loaning money for a short time at good farm security and will continue to do so," said F. H. Jackson, president of the Rock County National bank today. The farmers have trouble in getting a loan, he said, but there is no tendency to shut him off of credit.

Other bankers voiced similar statements that they are confident regarding the future of the Rock County National bank, and are being liberal in credits with good security.

Christmas Mails Light, Means Swamp Last Days
Washington, Dec. 16.—Whether people are ignoring the "mail early" slogan of the postoffice department, or have experienced a strong subsidence of the Christmas spirit of giving, is a question over which the department today expressed concern. There has been practically no increase in the volume of mails due to Christmas mailings so far, the department reported, whereas by December 15 last year the mails had increased 50 per cent above normal.

Out for a Ride

Luther Burbank out for a bicycle ride.

Luther Burbank, the well-known naturalist, now past the three-score-and-ten mark, attributes his good health to his early life on a farm and to continued outdoor exercise and recreation. He is noted as the originator of various new apples, peaches, nuts, berries and other valuable tree fruits, flowers, grasses, grains and vegetables, on his experimental farm at Santa Rosa, Cal.

He spends much of his recreation time on his bicycle.

LOCAL BANKS GIVE CREDIT TO FARMERS

Rock Soil Tillers Have Little Difficulty in Getting Short Time Loans.

Rock county farmers are not having difficulty in obtaining credits in Janesville banks on short loans notwithstanding the general retrenchment of all banks on paper securities. Credits to the farmer at the present time is declared to be a paramount item for the farmer is loath to unload his products at present bottom prices.

There has been some complaint made to the county agricultural agent, R. T. Glasco, that banks have called in their loans among farmers. This may mean the calling in of loans to farmers in some parts of the state.

Pro-War Prices
The farmers near Janesville feel confident that the bottom has been reached in the price of farm products. The prices on hogs, corn and milk are practically back to the basis of prices of 1914 and farmers here are holding off in selling. It is the first time in history that prices have dropped radically despite decreased shipments.

Caring in loans now would mean the forcing of the farmer to throw his products on the market at low prices to meet his needs," said County Agent Glasco. "It would mean a dark loss. I doubt if a farmer having good security will have trouble obtaining credit at Janesville banks."

GIVES UP TOU AT MILWAUKEE IS FAGGED OUT

MAY GO TO ENGLAND I BRITISH GRANT HIM SAFE CONDUCT. WOMAN TESTIFIES

Describes to Committee How Cousin Was Killed by Black and Tans.

(By Associated Press.)
New York, Dec. 16.—Damonn T. Valera "president of the Irish republic" is "in hiding" in this country but may consider returning to Great Britain if granted a safe conduct by Premier Lloyd George, Harry Boland, "presidential secretary," announced here today.

Mr. Boland said Mr. DeValera was eager from his activities in the country and had withdrawn to privacy until he felt able to resume his tour in the United States at the place where he had left off because of illness. Mr. Boland declined to make known his whereabouts.

To Keep Speaking Dates.
The speaker has speaking dates which he will fill in the United States, his secretary added. He treated lightly references to the proposed return of Mr. DeValera, but insisted the trip overseas would be considered until safe conduct was guaranteed.

Reports from London last night that a writer of the Evening Standard had learned "from an authoritative source" that Mr. DeValera was to land in England within a few days caused a stir this morning in the American Committee for Irish Independence, where Mr. Boland has his office.

Is in Jovial Mood.
Mr. Boland, in a jovial mood when a representative of the Associated Press entered his office. Continuing a telephone communication with some one he called "Tipin," he said: "Well, he's disappeared again. But I don't think he'll be going home until something is said about a safe conduct. That's all I know enough."

To the reporter he said: "The chief is all fagged out. He has disappeared for a rest. But I can't say he'll be going home until something is said about a safe conduct. That's all I know enough."

WOMAN DESCRIBES KILLING OF COUSIN
Washington, Dec. 16.—The commission of the Committee of One Hundred investigating conditions in Ireland, today heard two witnesses who described the killing of her cousin, Michael Walsh, which she said was done by the Black and Tans, while she was visiting at Galway, Ireland, last October. The witness was a 21-year-old brother had been stripped and beaten by British soldiers on September 20.

British Consul Control.
Paul P. Quinn, of New York, a member of the Society of Friends, presented a report of the British branch of the society on the English government has ceased to function over at least 80 per cent of Ireland.

The Sinn Féin government could and would run the country," the report declared, "and at present order, and safety are only found in districts from which the English military and police have been withdrawn."

WHOLEY PURCHASES MOTOR AMBULANCE FOR GENERAL USE
An ambulance will be put into service by Lynn Whaley, County Coroner, in connection with his undertaking establishment, according to an announcement made today. This will be the first privately owned motor ambulance to be used in Janesville, the only other being a combination police patrol and ambulance.

Mr. Whaley has just completed arrangements for the purchase of the motor ambulance delivery within four days. It will be equipped with the most modern ambulance car. The body of the car will be built on a chassis especially constructed for ambulance work. Mr. Whaley expects to install a pulmotor later.

AXES LOWERED BY DISARMAMENT

Reduction of Army and Navy Comes to Fore as Remedy for Financial Crisis.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright 1920, Janesville Daily Gazette)

Washington, Dec. 16.—Disarmament is to be exact, reduction of armaments—is at last coming to the front of congress as a concrete remedy for the financial crisis. The demand from business men for taxes to be reduced and the cutting of the farmers and cotton growers for foreign markets is provided for the world situation is affected by the enormous sums of money that must be spent on war-making apparatus and armaments.

From Senator Doherty, one of the leaders of the group of "irreconcilables" which has been opposed to the reduction of armaments, comes the most recent proposal for an agreement between Great Britain, Japan and the United States to limit the armaments. Simultaneously the assembly of the League of Nations at Geneva takes action recommending to various governments the reduction of armaments.

Financiers Recommend Move.
Behind the action of the league at Geneva from the financiers of the world who met at Brussels recently and considered how the world situation might be improved and normalized. The text of its recommendation is pertinent to the present move in congress.

"The first step," says the official recommendation of the conference, "is to bring public opinion in every country to realize the essential facts of the situation, and particularly the need of re-establishing public finances on a sound basis as a preliminary to the execution of those social reforms which the world demands."

"Nearly every government is being pressed to incur fresh expenditure—largely on palliatives which aggravate the very evil against which they are directed. The country which accepts the policy of budget deficits is leading the slippery path which leads to general ruin. To escape from that path no sacrifice is too great."

One-fifth spent on Forces
The statements presented to the conference show that on an average 20 per cent of the national expenditures is still being devoted to the maintenance of armaments and to the preparation for war. The most generous nations, it is pointed out, spend 10 per cent of their national income on armaments.

Whether the president-elect has arrived at any decision respecting any cabinet appointments or has asked any one to accept a place in his official family is not known. This is a matter which the candidate for the presidency has not considered seriously in advance of the election.

When General Wood visited Marquette shortly after the Republican convention and suggested all possible assistance to the man who had defeated him for the nomination it was reported that Senator Harding had agreed to accept the nomination. The suggestion of the appointment of General Wood to the war portfolio elicited widespread approval among republicans.

There has been a good deal of speculation on the possible selection of Secretary of State. Those most frequently mentioned are Elihu Root and Senator Knox of Pennsylvania, both of whom have served as secretary of state. Senator Lodge, who, as chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations, directed the framing of the League of Nations, is also mentioned. The assembly of the United States to send unofficial representatives to the League of Nations, but President Wilson declined on the grounds that America had not entered the League of Nations. But proposals have arisen from Senator Walsh of Montana, democrat and Senator Borah, republican, of Idaho, to bring about international agreement on armaments just the same. There is some suggestion here that Great Britain and Japan will use the League of Nations to retain their armaments, the fact that the most powerful nation of all—the United States—refuses to join.

President-elect Harding is committed to a reduction of armaments. His campaign speeches as well as the republican platform have urged it. There is a provision on the statute books today which authorizes the president of the United States to call an international conference on disarmament. Mr. Wilson didn't avail himself of this privilege because he hoped to accomplish the same thing through the special armament commission of the League of Nations to which America was recently invited to send delegates.

The subject is passing out of the realm of the academic because it so vitally affects taxation and domestic prosperity. Officials and economists insist that if a general program of reducing armaments could be agreed upon, the following things would probably happen:

Income Tax Would Be Reduced.
Income taxes would be reduced because foreign countries would be able to compete with the United States in spending for armament in paying America something on the big war debt of ten billions.

Liberty Bonds Would Rise
Liberty bonds would rise in value because the American government would be able to raise money without further borrowing and because payments from abroad would help pay off the interest on government obligations, which at present must be raised by taxation.

Finally, if Europe could be turned from thoughts of war and the money that men put into the war effort would be put into the production of goods for the home market, the stability of the political situation would bring about a quicker return to normal economic conditions.

That's why the United States last has gotten to the front of the stage and probably will stay there for several months as the people demand lower taxes and better export markets.

POSSIBILITIES FOR NEW CABINET

Washington.—The election of Senator Harding to the presidency naturally brings to the fore speculation on the cabinet selections he may make before he is inaugurated on March 4.

Whether the president-elect has arrived at any decision respecting any cabinet appointments or has asked any one to accept a place in his official family is not known. This is a matter which the candidate for the presidency has not considered seriously in advance of the election.

Deficit Cut Down in Milton College
(Special to Gazette).
Milton—Milton college, which is common with many other educational institutions, has had to face a possible deficit of several thousand dollars this year, is gradually emerging from what looked a few months ago like a desperate financial situation. According to figures just announced by the college officials, Milton's income for the current year from interest on its endowment, student tuition, fees, and a contribution from the national Forward Movement fund of Seventh Day Baptists, lacks less than $7,000 of meeting the budget of expenses.

That's why the college is confident that gifts from friends of the college and the income from a proposed new sustaining fund will make up the balance of what is needed during the next few years. Thanksgiving collections taken in Seventh Day Baptist churches of the middle west have already reduced this possible deficit by $3,000.

WOMEN ALERT TO CROSSINGS DANGER

Four Seek Data from Railroad Commission on Proposed Changes.

Women of the First and Fifth wards are taking active interest in the proposed to eliminate danger at grade crossings here. Four of them have written to the railroad commission within the past month inquiring as to the status of the movement begun to get action.

The commission, through its secretary, C. D. Se Chever, has advised that the matter rests with the citizens of Janesville. The commission can do nothing until the interested get together on the proposition, writes.

He reviews the present situation and the events leading up to it in a letter to Mrs. W. M. Jellison, 1904 Franklin street. The letter follows: Magnolia, Wis., Dec. 15, 1920.

"Your letter of recent date is one of several that I have received inquiring about the progress being made in the case involving the grade crossing at the intersection of Franklin street and the railroad tracks. The crossing is a very dangerous one and should be vitally interested in the improvement of safety conditions at the crossing. We are very glad to render you a report of the status of the case."

"The original complaint was filed by the city of Janesville, and a hearing was held on Jan. 21, 1920, which was the earliest date available. At that time a number of plans were proposed as a possible solution of the problem presented."

Several proposals contemplated the improvement of the crossing by widening the viaduct under the railroad tracks, and possibly the removal of the street railway tracks from the crossing. However, there appeared to be a very considerable objection to this proposal and it was tested by a division of traffic would not actually take place and that vehicles and pedestrians would continue to use the crossing in preference to the viaduct.

Expense Would Be Heavy
All of the other proposals involved some sort of grade separation, either by viaducts for the streets over the railroad tracks, or the elevation of the railroad tracks to permit the streets to go underground. The expense of such a project has been estimated at $100,000. It is the opinion of the commission that a grade separation would place upon the municipality a heavy expense, it was felt that the city should be given the opportunity to discuss the matter with the railroad company and the citizens to discuss the matter. It was accordingly decided to call a meeting of the citizens and representatives of the railroad company to meet the interested citizens and to arrive at some equitable plan for disposing of the question."

It was our understanding that Mr. C. D. Se Chever, who has been in charge of the project, had some correspondence with the railroad company and the citizens to discuss the matter. COUNTY RED CROSS TO NAME OFFICERS AT SESSION FRIDAY

The annual meeting of the board of directors of the Red Cross chapter, American Red Cross, will be held at the office in the postoffice building at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Miss Hattie Alden, secretary of the county chapter and also head of the Janesville branch, will give a report of the work accomplished for the year. The board will elect officers and a report will also be made of the results of the Red Cross 1920 roll call.

Officers of the county chapter are: Chairman, J. P. Worthington; secretary, Miss Hattie Alden. On the board of directors there are two representatives from each of the township and city branches. The board will elect officers and a report will also be made of the results of the Red Cross 1920 roll call.

The meeting of the Janesville branch will be held at 4 o'clock the same afternoon following the county meeting. They will elect officers and a report will also be made of the results of the Red Cross 1920 roll call.

The couple started from Stoughton on their first wedding anniversary, Nov. 16, covering a score of states in their month's trip, visiting their children. They visited with their son, Walter, at Rockford, Ill., and with daughter, Mrs. Ray Wilson, Benton Harbor, Mich. They will be in Janesville for a few days, visiting with their daughter, Mrs. L. H. Hibbard, live in Stoughton. The Hibbards have a summer home at Lake Kegonsa.

Celebrate Their Golden Wedding With Long Trip

"I'm 72 years old, but don't feel a day older than 46," declared Mr. M. Hibbard, one of Stoughton's leading citizens. For 24 years he has been married to his wife, Mrs. M. Hibbard, who is also 72 years old. They celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on Nov. 16, 1920, at their home in Stoughton, Ill.

WEDDING OF U. S. GIRL IN LONDON IS BRILLIANT AFFAIR

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

London, Dec. 16.—Viscount Stuart, son and heir of the sixth earl of Castle Stewart, and Miss Eleanor May Guggenheim, daughter of Solomon R. Guggenheim, of New York, were married here today. The ceremony was performed by Canon David, of Coventry and was witnessed by more than 100 relatives and friends.

The bridegroom was Miss Edith MacGregor, Glasgow, and Janet Rowell, Newcastle-on-Tyne, school friends of the bride. The best man was Hugh Greer.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of the Charles II. period. It was a handwoven, pearl white satin brocade, embroidered with pearls and diamonds and had a rose point collar and under skirt of cloth of silver and a long court train of the same material.

The wedding was one of the most brilliant events of the London season. During her several years study in England, the bride cultivated many friends and she is declared to be one of the most popular Americans recently to enter the British peerage. She and the Viscount first met at a social function in this city.

The couple will spend their honeymoon in Spain.

BARN IS RAZED BY FIRE; $2,000 LOSS

Blaze at Newman Farm Burns 100 Bushels of Oats—Cause Unknown.

Fire originating from an unknown cause last night completely destroyed the barn on the farm of Guy E. Newman, Black Bridge road, just north of the city limits. The loss is placed at close to $2,000. An auto, horses and a buggy were rescued undamaged, but 100 bushels of oats and a survey went up in smoke. The blaze was discovered about 9 o'clock and a telephone call was sent to the fire department here. Although outside the city, the big truck at No. 1 station and a squad of five men were sent out. Finding the building enveloped in flames, firemen were unable to save it because of an absence of water. The barn was located so close to the burning building that it was impossible to put the triple-action pump on the job until the barn had collapsed. A bucket brigade was formed to keep the fire from spreading to other buildings. Mr. Newman could place no estimate on his net loss. The building and contents were insured for $500, he said.

LABOR AS SERVANTS OF GOD, IS APPEAL

"You must somehow get the love of work back to the world, and get people to labor as servants of God," said the Rev. J. S. Dancy of the Congregational church of Rockford, speaking before the meeting of the Mens' Brotherhood in the local church last evening.

His topic was "The Greatness of the Puritans," and he emphasized three points whereby their principles might be adopted by the world today for the betterment of society. First, make the personality of each individual filled with the spirit of God; second, make America realize that she has a great ideal and third, make the whole nation a Christian people bent on making those ideals come true.

He gave a tribute to the old puritan ancestors, who applied reason to the Bible and claimed this country for God. "We must deal with eternal things," he said in conclusion, speaking of the spirit of patriotism. J. C. Kohler gave an impromptu speech with hits at individual members. Alfery Robinson recited a patriotic poem "Our Land." Vocal numbers were given by Dr. T. J. Snodgrass "Eldorado" and "Elaine," and the Sorenson sisters gave several selections. They were given by Mrs. M. B. Sorenson, Mrs. E. E. Van Pool, Harry Robbins, Glen Owen, John Lewis, and Mrs. E. E. Van Pool. A collection is being taken up by this committee to aid in local charity work.

PIONEER OF ROCK COUNTY SUCCEUMS

Simon Simmons, 73, a life long resident of Rock county, died at 8 o'clock last evening at his home six miles north of this city. He had been in poor health for the past two years.

He was born in this county, March 2, 1848. Mr. Simmons was united in marriage Jan. 13, 1872, to Miss Carrie Daves. She died in 1899. To this union were born three daughters and two sons, one daughter and a son dying in infancy.

Those who are left to mourn his death are: two daughters, Mrs. Paul Schmeling, town of Janesville, Miss Mable Simmons, and a son, George, live at home. He also leaves five brothers, one sister and three grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 o'clock Friday afternoon from the home. Rev. J. Hart Truesdale, United Brethren church, will officiate. Interment will be in Mount Pleasant cemetery.

Q. What is the capital of Oklahoma, and when did it become such?
H. S. According to the constitution of the state of Oklahoma, Guthrie was made the capital with the provision stated that it was to remain the same until the year 1913. However, in November, 1910, the legislature passed a law to remove the capital to Oklahoma City. This action was held invalid by the state supreme court, but later at special term called by the governor of the state the law was revised and passed by a decision of the state supreme court on the 9th of the following February, making Oklahoma City the capital of the state.

A SWEETHEART AT THIRTY

The Story of a Woman's Transformation
BY MARION RUBINCAM

I DECIDE CHAPTER XXII
So at 35, a man had at last wanted to marry me. That was something at least. Personally, with his 40 years and his double chin, he was not so attractive, yet his property made him desirable in the eyes of my neighbors.
But such as he was, he had wanted me to marry him. I did not want to marry him, yet the fact that he had asked me, that he had wanted me, gave me a self-confidence I never had had in my life before. An old maid I was, an old maid I would probably remain for no idea of accepting him ever entered my head. Yet not so much an old maid as before. For now I would be so from choice, not from lack of opportunity to marry.
Self-possession came in place of self-consciousness. I was not at all nervous when I turned to Mark now.
"Why do you ask me to marry you?"
He gasped a little and gulped. I could see the muscles in his flabby throat contract and relax. It made his collar seem even tighter.
"Why?" he repeated. "Er—why does any man ask a woman to marry him?"
"Because he is in love with her?" I asked calmly.
"Nonsense!" he said, irritated at such an idea.
"Why did you almost ask me to marry you 12 years ago?" I went on.
"That was different—"
"How?"
"Well, it was 12 years ago—may be more."
"What difference does that make?" I asked.
Mark looked still more irritated at my stupidity. His face grew red.

—or, rather, redder than usual. "Well, 12 years ago you were young. Lord, you were pretty in those days!" This was said with delightful frankness. Good-looking you were, rather good-looking, then. I emphasized the "then."
"And—well, if you must have it, I was in love with you."
"Yes, then. But all that's nonsense now. We're both old—look at us!" He looked at me as he spoke, and I looked at him. And again the sense of our lost youth was forced upon me—Mark fat. I might almost say bulky; myself thin to the point of emaciation. This look of eternal self-satisfaction, mine of eternal disappointment.
"You always were a romantic one," he went on. "I remember one of the things you used to say to me then. Now, that's sentimental of me, isn't it?" he asked triumphantly.
"You wanted to kiss me every time we were alone or every time I was dark," I answered frankly.
"You wanted to kiss me just because it was convenient, because I was the nearest girl and the chance was there. You didn't want to kiss me because it was especially, or because you were in love with me."
"Well, maybe I wasn't at first, but I was later. Anyway, what's that got to do with this now?" He was plainly irritated.
"Nothing," I said, soothingly—I foresaw years when it would be more and more necessary for me to soothe this man. "But you haven't answered my question. Why do you want to marry me now?"
"Er—because I'm a good man, I've got a good home, and a good—"
"I know," I interrupted rudely. "You told me all that. Well, since you can't tell me why you want to marry me, I suppose, I'll tell you. You're a good home, but having it run by a housekeeper is not as comfortable as having it run by a wife. You don't pay me a salary to run your house, Mark."

It was an impish turn of thought. It would never have come to me, had it not been for the fact of something similar that Violet said. Again Mark gulped.
"Why—why would you want a salary?" he asked. "You'd be my wife."
"Well, we won't argue that," I said, afraid to get into a long discussion.
"A wife is supposed to give something," he answered.
"So is a husband," I answered sharply. "You've told me plainly enough why you want to marry me—mostly because you want a housekeeper and because you're lonely over there in that big house you talk about. But you don't want to marry me because you love me or because you would be unhappy without me, or—"
"But we're too old for all this sentimental nonsense," said my lover.
"Mark," I answered quietly. "I don't believe any man or woman is ever too old for some sort of love, even if it is only a tender friendship. You haven't even that to offer."
"But Enid," he protested. "We're old, we're settled, we want a quiet home, that's all." His wounded vanity burst out suddenly. "Do you know I'm a good catch?" he asked loudly. "Do you know lots of women would jump at the chance of such a home—and everything?"
"Probably," I answered calmly. "But I'm not one of them." (Tomorrow—Disapproval)

German Women Interested in Fashions

By ELOISE.

We are always reading about what petite Marie wears at the Parisian races and now comes word that Gretchen, das Deutsches Maedchen, is also attending the races at the C. unewald race track in Germany. By the looks of the photographs the chic Marie has nothing on ziemiliche Gretchen when it comes to smart and fashionable clothes.

All the frocks and wraps in this group of five might take their place beside the Paris styles. At the extreme left is a white frock trimmed with monkey fur at the neck and cuffs. There is a row of buttons that runs from neck to hem and a pretty bow-tie design in black runs through the material. To the right of this frock is a suit and cape combination of navy taffeta and cloth with a deep collar of Australian opossum. The hat is a draped turban trimmed with the unruly ostrich feathers which droop over the face.

At the extreme right is a smart cape which attracted special attention. It is of striped accordin pleated material matching the frock which is worn with it. A large leather tricorn hat is worn with it. The coat to the left is a simple but effective model with a high collar and front panel with fringe and button trimming.

A black cloth coat dress is shown below. It is simply made, but gorgeously trimmed with silver embroidery. A tasseled cord marks the waistline.

kidney is very often enclosed, being held in place by the long thin flank pieces and is held in place and sketched firmly. When skillfully broiled so that it is pink and juicy all through and deeply browned on the outside, this is probably the best chop that can be served, especially if it is accompanied by nicely baked potatoes. The English Southdown mutton chops are cut from mutton about four years old and are justly famous for flavor and quality.

To broil an English mutton chop, first wipe with a damp cloth and sear quickly on both sides, then reduce heat and broil for twenty-five to thirty minutes, turning the chop every five minutes. When puffy and well browned place on a hot plate, season with salt and pepper and garnish with watercress.

Curry is a preparation native to Hindustan and has become very popular among the English since their domination in India. It is a mixture of highly pungent and appetizing spices and is believed to have a salutary effect on the digestion. The natives eat it lavishly in sauces for meat and fish which would be unpalatable for most of our palates. A moderate proportion of the powder gives an agreeable unique flavor that is much liked. In using curry one should always season to taste until just the quality that pleases the family palate is ascertained.

Curry of Veal—One and one-half pounds veal, cut in stewing piece, two onions (sliced), one-half cup drippings or butter substitute, one teaspoon curry powder, boiling water, three tablespoons flour, one teaspoon vinegar, salt, pepper.

Wipe meat with a damp cloth and sear quickly on both sides in a hot frying pan. Then cut in one-inch pieces. Melt drippings and fry onions in it until brown, add meat, curry powder, boiling water to just cover the meat and salt and pepper to season. Cover and cook slowly until meat is tender—about one hour. Mix flour with cold water and use to thicken gravy. Serve with a border of boiled spaghetti or macaroni.

The fruit pies of English cooks are somewhat different from those to which Americans are generally accustomed. They are usually made a great deal thicker and have not one crust which is spread over the top. This does away with a soggy bottom crust so frequent in juicy pies. Served with cream, these pies are a feast in themselves.

Fill a baking dish with thinly sliced apples. Add one-third cup sugar and one-quarter teaspoon cinnamon for each six apples. Cover dish with a pie crust in

The Letters of Tessie and Joe

DEAR JOE:

The baby let out a terrible hair breadth yell last night and for some inextinguishable reason the thought struck me that the little angel had at last given birth to a tooth, but no, Joe, it was only a stomach ache, and the little dear is still as devoid of teeth as the great Sahara Desert. I don't know why I'm beginning this letter with bad news, because personally I always feel that a person should always postpone all the bad news to the end of a letter. As Mrs. Pink says, the only pleasure attached to bad news is in failing to hear it.

After the baby had convalesced from his stomach ache he started to wave his arms around like he always does when he seems to feel ambitious, and I got an intuition that maybe it might be a symbol that he's going to be an orchestra leader. Of course I don't know who he would inherit any music from, considering I can't carry a tune as far as the next room and you couldn't distinguish the scales on a piano from the scales on a fish, but personally I never took much stock in all this talk about heredity. Look at Adam and Eve. They never even had a single soul to inherit anything from, and they got along.

Anyways, if the baby turns out to be an orchestra leader I think it will be real nice, because we'll always have music around the house even if it's only rehearsals, and if he happens to be the leader of the orchestra in a big movie theatre he'll be able to get us free tickets and everything.

I saw an interesting article in the paper today that said bookworms have caused more damage to books than all the fires and floods. I felt real glad that we only have about a dozen books instead of a whole bookcase full, so in case a plague of bookworms ever happens in this neighborhood they can't do much damage as far as we are concerned.

Well Joe, love and don't do anything I wouldn't do.

TESSIE.

WHAT SHALL I DO?

Answered by VIRGINIA PAGE

Consult the Head Porter

"Dear Miss Page—I'm going on quite a journey during the holidays. I can't make out my whole trip before I leave and I've never looked up train times and information like that. The railroad men are 'ways in such a hurry I never feel satisfied that they've told me right. Is there any other way to make my arrangements?"—New Traveler.

There is in every first class hotel a head porter who will arrange for you all matters of train schedules, baggage and transportation to the station. Anyone in the hotel will direct you to the head porter's office, or you can call him on the room phone. It is not obligatory but it is customary to tip him if you ask a great deal of assistance, but he will give you train times and such information just for your "thank you." You should notify him when you expect to be gone to leave your room, and he will send for your baggage. It is customary then, of course, to tip the boy.

R. S. V. P.

"Dear Miss Page—I know that R. S. V. P. means 'please answer,' but where does that meaning come from? Should it be used on all invitations if you want an answer?"—Jeanette.

The letters R. S. V. P. stand for the French phrase "Repondez, s'il vous plait," meaning "Answer, if you please." This is taken for granted and on practically all formal invitations, but their use is limited now almost entirely to invitations to public affairs, and he who sends for your bag, those invited to be guests at private functions will be courteous enough to reply to their invitations with acceptance or regrets without being requested to do so.

In care of the "What Shall I Do?" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the questions. The Editor.

Highly Reprehensible.

"Well, ma, I gave young Mr. De Boots his cone last night."
"Laws, Amelia, you hadn't oughter be giving young men presents like that."

Chocolate Cake—One cup grated chocolate, two cups sugar, two and one-half cups flour, one-half cup butter, one and one-half cups sour milk, one teaspoon vanilla, one teaspoon soda, one large teaspoon baking powder. Bake in a slow oven.

Spice Cake—One cup sugar, one-half cup butter, one cup sour milk, yolk of one egg, one-half teaspoon cloves, one cup seeded raisins, two and one-quarter cups flour, one rounded teaspoon soda, one-half teaspoon cinnamon. Combine ingredients and bake in loaves. Frost with boiled frosting.

Dixie Marmalade—Two cups of ground carrot, one and one-half cups chopped green sweet peppers, two lemons, two cups rhubarb (cut in small pieces and unpeeled), two cups of sugar, ginger root (if desired). Make according to directions for flame colored marmalade.

Heart and Home Problems

Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am engaged to a fellow who is very much opposed to dancing. Sometimes he works nights and I tell him I am going to a dance, which displeases him. He says I should not go to them and so we usually get into an argument.

I do not like to quarrel with him because I always feel sorry later. I never go any place unless I am with him or one of our family.

Don't you think I should have the right to go once in a while? I am a respectable girl and always in good company.

DIXIE ROSE
It seems to me that you would make a mistake to marry a man whose views are so different from your own. Of course you must decide definitely which means more to you, the man or dancing. Personally, I do not think it advisable for a girl to attend dances when her fiance or husband will not go.

The triangle of love should be considered before a person lies himself or herself in marriage. I love you because you love the things I love. In your case, you and your fiance do not seem to have like tastes.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Please help me. I am in such deep trouble. Through my stubbornness and the influence of my people I have lost the best friend I ever had or ever will have. I am just awake to the fact I love him. I feel like going to him and asking forgiveness, for I have been so mean and it was all unlearned for. I simply listened to others.

I am a young lady twenty-four. My friend is five years my senior. He was a little rough in his younger days, but he reformed over two years ago. He was the best fellow, always took me wherever I wanted to go, bought me nice presents and was so gentle, always punctual in his engagements with me. He was perfect in his conduct and really had no bad habits except one. He would not keep a secret.

mean to him that he won't even speak to me.
The man from the west has gone now, and I see my old friend, but with other girls having a nice time, while I am all broken up over it, I blame no one but myself, but I must win him back.

Please tell me how I can win him back.

I want to say to other girls, "Be-ware. Always stick to the one you know and can depend upon, and don't trust other people who try to influence you. Don't let other people push you off on you."

BROKEN-HEARTED MAE
I am afraid you have done something which your old friend cannot forget. In place of the lovable woman he thought he knew, he found a heartless woman, who showed she did not appreciate his depth and loyalty of his friendship. His ideal is gone. It crashed to the earth when he thought he saw the reality in the letters you wrote.

He only saw a small part of your nature—a mean part which may never show itself again because doubtless you will profit by this mistake.

I rarely advise a girl to write a letter to a fellow who is very mean, however, I think it would be justifiable. Do not beg him to come back; simply state that you are sorry for your faithlessness and that you want him to know that you do appreciate what his friendship meant.

EX-KAISER LIVES IN HIGH STYLE

Keeps 50 Servants Busy, Has Six Cooks. Many Other Servants.

Doorn, Holland.—Revelations in the Prussian state legislature at Berlin of the sums of money which the former German emperor has been permitted to draw from Germany during the past two years, together with the announcement that the Dutch government will tax him for an annual income of 1,300,000 guilders, have caused the burghers of Doorn to speculate as to what he does with all this money. (Nominally a guilder is worth 10 cents.)

From Germany, the former emperor is said to have drawn 1,000,000 guilders, equivalent at present rates of exchange to 11,000,000 German marks, also the proceeds of the sale of some of his property in the Wilhelmstrasse, said to be 40,000,000 marks. Besides all this income, the Prussian government has contributed additionally to the furnishing of his new house at Doorn. For a long time William complained of being financially embarrassed. Now, according to the people of Doorn, he appears to be living in high style.

Not counting his marshal, General von Gontard and other members of his immediate suite, approximately 50 servants are now employed to keep up the house of Doorn. This does not include the workmen who are still engaged in various repairs—about the house and grounds.

There are 24 chambermaids, who are kept busy polishing the floors, brass-work, and otherwise keeping the castle up to the standard of old German cleanliness, demanded by the former Empress Augusta Victoria. They receive the equivalent of about a dollar a day. Ten of them live in the castle. In all, William now employs six cooks, who include a chef and an assistant living at the castle and four women who come in to work by the day. There are also a number of gardeners and personal servants.

Wages are $20,000 a year. To maintain this army of servants, whose average wages, the people of Doorn say, must be something more than a dollar a day, William pays in wages alone about $20,000 a year. Their upkeep costs him as much more and this does not include the high salaries of employees, like General von Gontard, Captain von Hsman, the "court physician" and secretaries, who must cost the ex-emperor about $20,000 more.

During his 18 months' stay at the Bentick castle at Amerongen, William lived at the rate of about $225 daily. In his own estate, he is believed to be spending much more.

In addition to buying the House of Doorn, he has this year spent approximately $32,500 on a "little" hospital which he presented to the village of Amerongen.

TREASURY CERTIFICATES ARE OVER-SUBSCRIBED

Collins denies all the charges.

SENATE LOOKS INTO DISPOSITION OF GERMAN CABLES

(By Associated Press.) Washington, Dec. 16.—Disposition of the former German cables seized by the allies and refusal of the government to permit the Western Union Telegraph company to land its Barbadoes cable at Miami, Fla., were brought into by special senate committee.

Acting Secretary Davis of the senate committee said that the American government indicated that the United States had a right to a direct communication with Germany such as we have.

"At the London conference," Mr. Davis said, "Great Britain, Japan and France contended that the German cables were prizes of war. It was the American contention that they should be returned practically to their former use. An agreement was finally reached that Germany should have the cables to the extent of their value against the reparations to be exacted. Their future status was left for later determination."

No communication between the United States and Germany is now available, Mr. Davis said, except over the British controlled lines.

With reference to the Western Union Barbadoes cable, Mr. Davis said President Wilson had refused to permit this line to be landed on American soil because it would connect with the system of the Western Union Telegraph company of Great Britain which enjoyed "monopolistic privileges in Brazil from which Americans were excluded."

The secretary said action taken by the government to prevent the landing of the Western Union cable was "in conformity with American precedent and tradition."

Four Inches of Snow Falls in Eau Claire

World's Fair Will Be Held in Iceland

Iceland to have a world's fair? So despatches announce, and the news item conjures visions of a great city arising at Thingvall, the very spot where one thousand years ago were tried some of the most interesting experiments in republican government that the world has ever known, says the New York Sun.

"Of course the fair itself would not and could not be held at Thingvall. There are a hundred thousand people in Iceland, counting the babies in arms, all of whom would fight to the death against such a desecration of the country's most hallowed ground. The fair, if it were to be a fair, would be in Reykjavik—Smoky Inlet or Smoky Harbor—the capital. But what can Iceland show so interesting, so appealing to the imagination of even the most prosaic and commercial minded person as Thingvall, literally translated, Parliament Plain, and adjoining Almannagja, the canyon of the people, where the Norse chieftains who had fled from Norway rather than surrender their independent sovereignty to Harald Fairfax and his foreign rights established a new republic? Not a democracy, by a long shot, but an aristocratic republic, to be ruled by the wisest and the most just men of the land. The experiment proved eventually a failure, but it was a glorious attempt. Think of our congress in Washington manned by the greatest men of this country, the brainiest men, not the politicians, and you will see what the essay in government at Thingvall really meant."

Ahead of Times 1,000 Years Ago The trouble with Iceland a thousand years ago was that it was probably two thousand years ahead of the times. When one chief did not agree with the decision of parliament he summoned his retainers and the session broke up in a fight. In those days a fight meant a battle.

But we'll never get anywhere with a discussion of Iceland's world's fair next year or the year following by reviewing Iceland's congressional records of a thousand years ago. What will Iceland have to offer in the way of world's fair attractions? And once the question is asked, the mind leaps forward to the Golden Age of this little island, anchored, you might say to the North Pole. In other words, the present Iceland has so very little of general interest and the old Iceland has so much.

World's fairs are expensive, but Iceland can afford a fair if it wants to invest in such a luxury. The boast of present Iceland is that its per capita wealth is the highest of any country in the world. There are any lands which have rich mine deposits in spots, but there are few that are shot, but an aristocratic republic, surrounded by a gold mine. Iceland is and will be so long as people eat fish. Hence the country's wealth since the time modern trawlers made fishing in a large scale profitable. If Iceland holds its world's fair the exhibits will be confined largely to the fishing industry.

Undoubtedly there will be trawlers and you will see what the essay in and trawlers' accessories of all kinds and descriptions. There will also be exhibits of woolens, weaving, knitting, brocades, embroidery and the modern revival of wood carving and silver work, copies and adaptations of the original craftsmanship which sprang up about the Saga and fell into neglect after the nobles had succeeded in killing each other off, and after the last Catholic priests, who, whatever their faults, stood at least heroically for the spirit of nationalism, had been beheaded or had bowed to the reformation.

Who Would Be Interested?

So Iceland's world fair would probably have a rather limited appeal to the people of this country. One who knows the country is inclined to think that no matter how glorious the fair, Iceland itself would have a much greater appeal. Let us, therefore, make a short list of the classes of people who would be most likely to be interested in a visit to Iceland, with a sequel at the proposed world's fair.

Multi-millinaires looking for cheap water power. There is enough undeveloped water power in Iceland to run all the factories of Europe by cable across the North sea.

Great men who are willing to listen to the arguments of Scandinavian engineers to the effect that millions of dollars can be saved annually by shipping grain to Iceland, milling it there and distributing the flour from the island to the central European markets.

Sportsmen who are ready to travel a few thousand miles to the best trout streams and duck points in the world.

Artists in search of gloomy grandeur.

"Only God and fire could have wrought such wonders," says one of Iceland's innumerable poets.

Next to Nature Writers interested in legends and folk lore. There are in Iceland thousands of volcanoes, mountains that have not yet become volcanoes, cliffs, hills, hillocks, rivers and lakes, and each has at least one bona fide antique legend attached to it.

Bibliophiles interested in classical Scandinavian literature. They can buy as rare editions of "Folkskringing" in New York city, if they know where to look, as in Iceland, but they can have much more fun bargaining for old volumes with book dealers and ancient farmers in the land where the Sagas were originally penned.

A few words of advice. Bolsheviks stay out. There is but one bolshevik in Iceland. His wife keeps a boarding house and his audience consists of stones, of which there are plenty. And don't tarry in Reykjavik, where the hotel accommodations are poor and the food none too good. Get out in the country and mingle with the most hospitable, simple and intelligent clan in this footstool of the Lord.

CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTORS ARE GUESTS AT DINNER

(By Gazette Correspondent.)

New York.—Twenty-five conscientious objectors, several of whom served prison terms because of their refusal to bear arms during the war, were "guests of honor" at a dinner given by the American Civil Liberties Bureau. Rev. John H. Holmes of the Community church lauded the objectors as the "bravest of the brave."

Platteville.—Prof. Fred T. Richie Mitchell to Fight Leonard for Title January 14

PURSE OF $60,000; RECEIPTS WILL GO TO AIDING FRANCE

New York, Dec. 16.—Benny Leonard, world's lightweight champion, will defend his title in a return bout against Richie Mitchell, Milwaukee contender, at Madison Square garden, Jan. 14, it was announced on Wednesday.

Final arrangements for this bout, which has been hanging fire for the last several weeks, were concluded on Wednesday in the office of Arthur B. Shuloff. The purse is announced as $60,000, of which Leonard will receive $40,000 and Mitchell $20,000. This contest will be for fifteen rounds to a decision. Billy Gibson, Leonard's manager, signed for the champion, and William Mitchell, brother of the Milwaukee lightweight, mailed in his contract with the signature affixed.

Sums of $5,000 each have been placed in the weight and appearance on behalf of both boxers. The weight will be 135 pounds at 2 o'clock on the day of the bout.

The receipts from the bout will go to the fund for devastated France. Promoter Tex Rickard has donated the Garden for the occasion, and is supplying the help and providing other assistance as the committee officials request.

Trainer Rickard expects to arrange three contests between prominent boxers to precede the Leonard-Mitchell match.

Bake-Rites went into a tie for second place with West Side No. 1 in the City League bowling Wednesday night by winning three from Brandenburg Printers while the Lawrence Lunch took one out of the hide of the West Siders. The Samson Tractors won three from the Crescents to keep their footing on first place, although the last one was taken by the new margin of three. There were no other changes in the standings. Janesville Machine Co. failed to show up, thereby giving the set to Ross Fraters by a forfeit.

No startling rolling was shown. High man was Schmidt of Lawrence Lunch, 227. Second high was Ryan at 226, having one game of 930 and another of 926.

TANKS HIT STARS FOR 21-18 DEFEAT

Company 'E' crew of tankers put one over on the 'Y' All-Stars on the army court Wednesday by winning 21 to 18. The game was close and hot in every minute and was made more interesting by a slippery floor and plenty of rough-house.

The Stars were hantleapped by the loss of Hager, who is still suffering from his recent illness. This does not detract, however, from the work of the tanks who put up an improved game showing results of practice.

Saturday night, the Stars play the Olympics of Beloit at the Y. M. C. A. Gym.

MENOMONIE BOWLER ROLLS PERFECT GAME

Menomonee, Wis., Dec. 16.—What is claimed to be the first perfect game ever rolled in this city, and the first perfect score recorded on Wisconsin bowling alleys this year, was registered by D. K. Hill on the Commercial alleys here. Hill got the 12 strikes that are necessary for a perfect mark without a "lucky" hit in the bunch.

Johnson of the American league left today for New York to attend the annual meeting of the league there tomorrow.

Ratification of the new national agreement will be one of the objects of the meetings. The American league club owners probably will agree upon April 13 as the date for opening the 1921 season. The National league favors that date.

Baltimore.—Charles Ledoux, of France, European bantamweight champion is to meet Kid Williams, of Baltimore, former American champion of the same division in a 15 round decision bout here tonight.

Lou Tondier, crack Philadelphia flyweight, has been matched to box Eddie Shannon of St. Louis Monday night in an eight-round decision bout. This will be the first fight that Charlie has had since his defeat by Leonard at Benton arbor.

What's good, he intends to make quick work of Shannon.

AMEND RULES FOR MOTOR BOAT RACES

New York, Dec. 16.—Three of the four proposed amendments, governing the Harmsworth International trophy race, submitted by the Royal Yacht club of England.

The amendments accepted stipulate elimination of the use of reverse gears by boats during the race, permission of the winning country to retain the trophy until the next race instead of one year, and permission of the trophy instead of its being held by the large governing organization. The amendment rejected provided for their all measurement to be exclusive of rudders and propellers.

FAIRIES OPEN GYM WITH GAME TONIGHT

Beloit Fairy basketball players open their season tonight in the gym of the company against the Marquette All-Stars of Milwaukee.

It will be the first game on the recently completed floor, which is said to be the finest in the middle west with the exception of a few college courts. Glass backboards are used.

Many Janesville fans, deprived of their favorite Cardinals, will journey to Beloit tonight to witness the game. Beloit's squad this year consists of Phillips and McDonald, forward; Haskin, center; Witte, guard; Garrity, Woods and Tiley, guards.

New Type of Millionaire's Sons Is With Us; They Learn Dad's Business

New York.—The rich man's son of 20 or even 10 years ago, who loved to frolic with father's money and the police, whose most extensive exercise was rolling his only cigarette and who, in the evening, might be smothered in blossoms at the stage door, is as extinct as the whangdoodle. There is no such animal. Possibly there never was. He may have possibly existed in the minds of jokesters, cartoonists and the men who write musical comedy.

Most of the young men now engaged in holding on to and augmenting their fortunes in Wall street never were rolsters in the sense that the world looks on the average rich man's son. Most of them are quiet, studious chaps, who had to play along in school with the rest of them, and who have had native sense enough not to let the possession of a few millions, more or less, turn their heads.

Some of them, too, were brought up in a strict school of discipline, conducted by the Old Man himself, in which the Old Man, generally pretentious-minded, made it pretty tough on any offspring of his who disobeyed the parental mandates.

Changed by War and Marriage.
Two other factors have entered into the lives of these young fellows to militate against cases of swollen head and coldness in general. One of them was the war, in which virtually every rich man's son, as well as nearly every poor man's son, was more or less engaged. War, the great leveller, gave most of them a new viewpoint and probably a real affection for the man in the street.

The other factor is that most of the rich men's sons in Wall street have married and settled down, and not a few of them have passed the family name on to the third generation. It might be an interesting show-down between young W. Averell Harriman, son of the late J. P. Morgan, and Junius Spencer Morgan, son of J. Pierpont Morgan, as to which pays the largest income tax due for the fact that both of them are so busily engaged in work in augmenting their bank rolls, that they have no time for anything but cold business.

Young Morgan Shows His Metal.
The two young men, Harriman and Morgan, are probably typical of the rich man's sons of today. Both were in the studios of their fathers' college days. Both, since getting tangled up in the machinery of modern industry, have been engaged in unimportant jobs, have plunged into the first ranks of big business. The same may be said of the sons of a dozen or so big men of the street. They have slipped into directorates, presidencies and vice presidencies and are not only watching the wheels go around but themselves spinning some of the motive power.

As a junior partner in the banking firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., Junius Spencer Morgan aided in taking command of affairs when an explosion recently rocked Wall street just outside of his desk when the explosion occurred, was slightly cut by falling glass.

Harriman Slips Shipping Interests.
W. Averell Harriman, the modest young man who with his three sisters shared in the $75,000,000 estate left by Edward H. Harriman, just now is being overheard in a lively shipping scrap which is commanding as much attention as did any of the railroad battles his father staged.

WITH THE WOMEN OF TODAY
By E. F. Page
Illustrated by M. J. Moriarty

Did you ever hear a young girl who was considering a career say in a disgusted voice:
"Oh, I'd never be a librarian; why, it is just the same old thing day after day, and you never get any place." If you have just tell them about Miss Wilson.

Miss Wilson has just been appointed librarian of the League of Nations. She expects to use the American system of library cataloging and classifying to a great extent. It is understood that Miss Wilson's work in cataloging and filing with the League of Nations library two years ago resulted in her permanent appointment. The selection is considered distinctive as well as a recognition of her exceptional ability. Miss Wilson was chosen from among scores of other expert librarians from different nations who were with the peace commission.

Mr. Jacob Lyon, Homer, Mich.
I wish that you could hear him tell of his many experiences with ointments, salves, dilators, etc., before he tried my method. Here is a letter just received from him:

"Dear Sir: I want you to know what your treatment has done for me. I had suffered with piles for many years and used suppositories and all kinds of treatments, but never got relief until I tried yours. Now I am completely cured. You know how long I am old, and the oldest active blacksmith in Michigan. I am 58 years of age and the piles have left me. I will surely recommend it to all I know who suffer this way. You can use my letter any way you wish and I hope it will lead others to try this wonderful remedy. Yours truly,
JACOB LYON.

There are thousands of afflicted people suffering with piles who have never tried the one sensible way of curing them.

Don't be out. Don't waste money on foolish salves, ointments, dilators, etc., but send today for a Free Trial of my internal method for the healing of Piles.

No matter whether your case is of long standing or recent development, whether it is occasional or permanent, you should send for this free trial treatment.

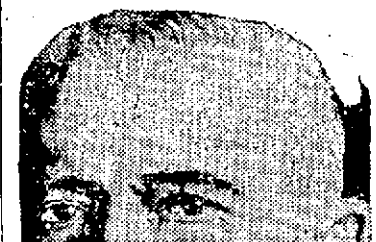

No matter where you live—no matter what your age or occupation—if you are troubled with piles, my method will relieve you promptly.

This liberal offer of free treatment is too important for you to neglect it. Write now. Send no money. Simply mail the coupon—but do this now—TODAY.

STOMACH SO BAD HE HAD TO GIVE UP JOB
But Mr. Myers Has His Old Job Back Now, and Has Gained 30 Pounds.

"Over a year ago my health got so bad I had to give up my work as a salesman. I felt so bad that I could not eat anything, and therefore, was too weak to work. I had been doctoring for a long time, but did not improve any."

When I started to take Milk's Emulsion and then went to a farm near here to work, I carried my Emulsion bottle with me all the time. I took it regularly and gained in strength and flesh every day, and was able to work the entire season through on the farm, and now I am back at my work in the Greenfield office. And I was 150 pounds when I started. I weigh down to 135 pounds but now I weigh 165, and am as strong and healthy as ever was."—Lem Myers, Virgil, Ill.

Thousands of people have suffered for years from stomach and bowel troubles, have found relief, almost from the first dose of Milk's Emulsion. And it is such a lasting benefit.

Milk's Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and cathartics. It is such a healthy and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. As a result, such a healthy and lasting benefit.

Emulsion is strongly recommended to those whose sickness has weakened their health. This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream. You are urged to try Milk's Emulsion under this guarantee—Take six bottles with you when you travel. It is according to directions and if not satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. Price 75c and $1.50 per bottle. The Milk's Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Man Dies at Prayer Found Kneeling by Bed

Marquette, Dec. 15.—Jacob Lechnitz, 72, widower, living alone, was found dead in bed by neighbors today. He was kneeling by the side of his bed when found, and probably died while praying. It is believed he had been ill two days ago and had remained in the kneeling posture during the entire time. He was a man of considerable means, and left all his property to Tony Kuchlein, the young son of neighbors, with whom he frequently visited.
